

Illuminating Relevant Clinical Issues
& Networking with Colleagues

TREATING CHILDREN AND ADOLESCENTS WITH ADHD AND DISRUPTIVE BEHAVIOR DISORDERS

It has been estimated that nearly 10% of children between the ages of 11-17 in the United States have been diagnosed with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and 5.6% are currently taking medication. The prevalence estimates for Oppositional Defiance Disorder (ODD), often associated with ADHD, range from 2% to 16%. Conduct Disorder (CD) is estimated to affect as many as 8% of children aged 9- 17. Despite the large numbers of affected individuals and their families, there are virtually no empirically validated psychosocial treatments available for these disorders in adolescents.

This presentation will review the various methods of treating ADHD and the disruptive behavior disorders in children and will present the standard of care and innovative psychosocial options for treating adolescents.

Friday, October 7, 2011
7:00-9:00 PM, 3rd Floor, Room 324/326
Networking Begins at 8:30 PM
Pepperdine University - Irvine Graduate Campus

Kenneth Woog, Psy.D. has been with Pepperdine University's Graduate School of Education and Psychology since 2001 and is the Associate Director of PRYDE, the community-based psychology clinical training program based out of the Irvine campus. In addition to having a BS in Electrical and Electronics Engineering from Cal Poly, a Masters Degree in General Psychology from Pepperdine, Masters in Counseling Psychology and Doctorate in Clinical Psychology from Trinity College, he is in his final term pursuing his MBA in Entrepreneurship at Pepperdine. He also developed the case management and clinical documentation software in use by PRYDE since 2009.

Dr. Woog is a licensed psychologist and also maintains a private practice in Lake Forest specializing in behavioral addictions such as computer gaming addiction and pathological gambling.

If you are unlicensed, you may be able to get hours towards licensure with your clinical supervisor's approval! This is a FREE event!

Please RSVP to Kathleen Wenger at psyprofdev@pepperdine.edu.

This event is sponsored by the M.A. Clinical Training & Professional Development office.