REACH NEW HEIGHTS

with Pepperdine's Master of Arts
in Social Entrepreneurship and Change

In today's interconnected, global society, entrepreneurs are applying market-based principles to create high-impact social change. Pepperdine's Master of Arts in Social Entrepreneurship and Change creates leaders who are prepared to take on the world's most challenging problems.

This cohort-based, online-hybrid program equips individuals with an interest in transformation with the knowledge, skills, and resources to effect change in their local communities and across the globe. In less than two years, students create an approach for impactful leadership while learning management practices such as formulating strategies, implementing programs, and creating marketing campaigns.

Students enjoy a two-week global experience in which they bring theory into action by observing social enterprise and meeting with heads of various organizations. Meanwhile, the one-year capstone project provides an opportunity to build an organization from scratch and pitch to a panel of social entrepreneurs.
