

IGC PSYCHOLOGY PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
CLINICAL CONNECTIONS

*Illuminating Relevant Clinical Issues
& Networking with Colleagues*

METACOGNITION: THINKING ABOUT THINKING
HOW AND WHY THE WAY YOU THINK IS IMPORTANT IN YOUR LIFE, YOUR WORK, AND RELATIONSHIPS

The primary difference between happy, successful people and those who are unhappy is found in the way they think about things. When we change the way we think, we often change the outcomes we can achieve. Take a reflective journey through your own co-created ecosystem of personal and communal stories, and explore how your thinking either limits, or liberates the best you to emerge. Kevin will focus on new and refreshing ways to look at life, relationships, business, success, and more. He will make simple the truths and techniques found through the integration of: Theology, Philosophy, Psychology, Spirituality, Complexity Science, Integral theory, and MetaWisdom. Come join us and explore new and better ways to think. Also, if you have a friend who wants to take a new look at their next steps and rethink some of their "truths" then feel free to invite them. Kevin is a brilliant and down-to-earth guy that you will enjoy immensely. He'll make you a better thinker and show you even more reasons to be happy about yourself and your opportunities in 2010.

Friday, February 5th, 2010
7:00-9:00 PM, 3rd Floor, Room 324/326
Networking Begins at 8:30 PM
Pepperdine University - Irvine Graduate Campus

Kevin Buck, M.S. MFT, is a gifted executive coach and master facilitator. He is a principal of Emergent Success, a collaborative consulting company that specializes in values-based cultural change and leadership development. Kevin assists leaders and their teams to transform themselves and their organizations – motivating change from within. He is an accomplished speaker who delivers substance along with inspiration. Kevin is currently collaborating with Lama Surya Das on metaWisdom - universal life wisdom, both practical and transformational.

Previously, Kevin was Director of the Center for Ministry Leadership for the Saint Joseph Health System. He taught for twelve years at Pepperdine University's Graduate School of Education and Psychology. A licensed marriage and family therapist, Kevin had a successful private practice in southern California for fourteen years. He began his career serving eleven years in Catholic ministry. Kevin is trained in classical literature, theology, philosophy, psychology and complexity science and is a life-long learner.

If you are unlicensed, you may be able to get hours towards licensure with your clinical supervisor's approval! This is a FREE event!
Please RSVP to Kathleen Wenger at psyprofdev@pepperdine.edu.