Jenna Haeflinger, MA is a Marriage and Family Therapist Intern* and is an alumna of Pepperdine GSEP. She obtained her MA in Clinical Psychology in 2008 from Pepperdine GSEP. Jenna is currently interning in a private practice in Culver City. Jenna works with a wide range of clients and focuses on women’s issues, individuals and couples dealing with life transitions, and parents of children with special needs. Jenna has experience working in a variety of settings. She has trained at the Child Development Institute, where she trained in Floortime Therapy and working with parents and children with special needs. Jenna has also worked at UCLA with children with ADHD and Tic Disorders. In addition, she has experience working in the LA probation system with a wide range of issues such as substance abuse, trauma, and anger management.

Cindy da Silva, MA is a Marriage and Family Therapist Intern*. She received her MA in Clinical Psychology in 2008 from Pepperdine GSEP. Cindy specializes in treating couples, women “stuck” in patterns of personal and professional unhappiness, and children with a wide range of behavioral problems in a private practice in Culver City. Cindy has experience working with individuals, couples and families with a variety of issues, including depression and anxiety at Richstone Family Center. She has also worked with adolescents in both public and non-public schools on the west side and in the South Bay. In addition, Cindy’s professional experience in the performing arts allows her to help individuals dealing with job stress, performance anxiety, and work-related self-esteem issues.
